

Collin Juniper is a classical saxophonist from Azusa, California and a fourth-year student at the USC Thornton School of Music. He studies classical saxophone with Dr. Jessica Maxfield, Dr. Kenneth Foerch, and Professor Sal Lozano, and jazz saxophone with Dr. Ennis Harris. An active performer and collaborator, Collin co-founded the world-premiering ORCA Duo, performs with the Loca Saxophone Quartet, and has served as principal saxophonist of the Thornton Wind Ensemble. In 2025, he was named winner of the USC Winds and Percussion Concerto Competition. His work spans classical, jazz, and experimental music, reflecting a commitment to expressive, innovative performance.