

The Loca Saxophone Quartet—founded by Joshua Hebert (soprano), Collin Juniper (alto), Sophia Flores (tenor), and Julianna Townley (baritone)—originated at the University of Southern California and has grown into an active professional chamber ensemble. Known for championing new music, Loca has premiered works by composers including Luc Edouard and Brenden McBrien and has collaborated with leading voices such as Henryk Golden, Joey Sellars, Carter Pann, and Frank Ticheli. The ensemble performs frequently throughout California and across the United States, with recent appearances at the 2025 NASA Region 2 Conference and the Navy Band Saxophone Symposium in Fairfax, Virginia.
